The Partners Place

Dear Friends,

You may have noticed in past newsletters, and in speaking and working with us, that we focus a lot on the experience. This is simply due to the fact that at the end of the day that truly is what any home entertainment or automation system is supposed to provide, an experience. That experience should enhance your life, making it easier and more enjoyable.

There is another type of experience that we focus on but it is probably a little more subtle to the outsider, that type of experience being professional experience or expertise. Components recently attended the CEDIA Expo in Denver, Colorado.

For those of you who don't know, CEDIA is the Custom Electronic Design and Installation Association. The expo is a great opportunity for us to see and discover new products for integration into our current designs and see improvements to current products. There are also many training and certification opportunities for us. These types of learning opportunities are invaluable to us and consequently you the customer. Home electronics is a fast paced quickly changing industry. It would be easy for a company to get stale without continued education.

We feel privileged to be able to use our experience to help create yours. Thank you for your continued support and trust in Components. We look forward to continued strong relationships with each of our customers.

Sincerely,

Jason C. Evans

What's New...Denzel Media Server

One of the most exciting parts of attending the CEDIA convention is the discovery of a new or greatly improved products. This CEDIA convention was no different. We were pleased to find the newly unveiled 4th generation Denzel media server made by Inteset. The Denzel DTCD30-Si, features several improvements over its predecessor.

Here are just a few of the innovative features that the Denzel media server offers. The Denzel system boasts 1.5 Terabyte of internal storage upgradeable to 4 Terabytes. One of the most exciting features of digital media is the ability to store and organize it in one place. What that means is that you can store all of your DVD's, CD's, Digital Images, and much more to be enjoyed throughout your home. Just imagine your entire music collection – even all those old CD's that you forgot you had – organized into play lists based on album, genre, artist, or your own mix. With the Denzel you have the option of recording standard definition as well as high definition television.

Premium quality video, coupled with unmatched 7.1 channel Dolby Digital EX® or DTS-ES®, THX® surround sound, you'll think you're literally in the movie. So that you're not tied down to a particular format, Inteset offers a high speed Blu-ray HD-DVD combo drive on its servers.

The Denzel is also designed with upgradeability in mind. The server uses the latest technologies that support upgrading CPU, video, optical drive, hard drives, and other supporting hardware.

And what is the last, best feature of the Denzel media server? Why it's us of course. You will find unprecedented installation and support services from Components Electronic Systems, LLC. We are proud to be Inteset dealers and members of CEDIA (Custom Electronic Design and Installation Association). As your local Inteset dealer we also have a demo unit here in our office where you can experience Inteset systems first hand.
